Rails to Gear Rules to Drop 60,000 Jobs

CHICAGO (AP) — The nation's railroads announced today that one minute after midnight April 8 they will make work rules changes that eventually will eliminate 65,000 jobs.

The announcement was made by the carriers' chief negotiator shortly after a U.S. Supreme Court mandate permitted the dissolution of an injunction which had helped up making of rules changes since last summer.

In a brief announcement, James E. Wolfe, chairman of the National Railway Labor Conference and chief rail negotiator, said: "The nation's railroads today notified the National (Railway) Mediation Board that at 12:01 a.m. on April 8 we will make work rules changes intended to end the featherbedding problem. "We understand President Kennedy probably will name an emergency board before the unions set a strike date. This will prevent any stoppage for at least 60 days."

CHICAGO (AP) — The nation's railroads geared today to put into effect sweeping rules changes—upheld by the U.S. Supreme Court—which eventually will eliminate 65,000 jobs.

A Supreme Court clerk mailed in Washington Monday a mandate upholding the right of the railroads to make the changes and eliminate what they call featherbedding.

Delivery of the mandate to the U.S. District Court in Chicago will wipe out that court's injunction which has prevented the carriers from moving ahead with the job changes.

U.S. Dist. Judge Joseph Sam Perry called a meeting of lawyers representing management and the five operating unions today.

James E. Wolfe, chairman of the National Railway Labor Conference and chief rail negotiator, has said the schedule of changes will be published as soon as the injunction is dissolved.

"Five unions, representing some 200,000 men who man the nation's trains, are ready to call a strike whenever the railroads begin cutting jobs."

President Kennedy also is ready to act. He is prepared to invoke emergency procedures of the Railway Labor Act, providing 30 days for a presidential board to recommend a settlement formula and 30 more days for additional negotiations.

The carriers have asserted that featherbedding—their term for jobs they contend are no longer needed—has cost railroads $600 million a year.

Changes will include immediate dismissal of 13,000 locomotive firemen with low seniority and rules changes on freight and yard service which will eventually eliminate at least 25,000 jobs.

Some 27,000 locomotive firemen's jobs will be dropped when present employees leave the companies—that is, when the firemen die, retire or quit.

The unions involved—firemen, engineers, conductors, trainmen and switchmen—have denied the charges of featherbedding and point to a cut of 50 per cent in the rail work force in the last 15 years.

Minstrel to Preview at Blevins

A preview showing of the 1963 Hope Kiwanis Minstrel will be held at 8 p.m. Tuesday in the Blevins High School gym. All proceeds will go to the Blevins High School to sustain its youth program.

The cast is made up of veteran Kiwanis Club performers, plus several specialties, including Miss Delaine Bonds of Blevins, who will be featured in two numbers.

On Thursday and Friday nights of this week, the show moves to the high school auditorium in Hope.

Second Attempt Places Antenna

JONESBORO, Ark. (AP) — KAIT, Jonesboro's new television station, has succeeded in a second attempt to place a 54-foot antenna on top of its 300-foot tower. A construction crew tried to put up an antenna several weeks ago, but it crashed to the ground.

Rubin Masters, manager of the station, said it would broadcast from 4 p.m. to midnight when the station begins operation May 1.

Fine Legislature, Faubus Aid Says

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Gov. Orval E. Faubus' legislative secretary said Monday the 1963 Arkansas Legislature did not waste its time and in fact accomplished a great deal.

William J. Smith cited the fact that 400 bills were introduced in the Senate and 500 in the House.

He said the state's newspapers continually criticize the state legislature, no matter what it does.

Slaying in Laos Blamed on Guards

By ANTOINE YARED

VIENTIANE, Laos (AP)—The assassination of leftist Laotian Foreign Minister Phommavithana was blamed today on one of the guards at his home.

Government sources said the soldier—an adherent of Phommavithana's own neutralist faction—riddled the foreign minister with 18 machine-gun bullets Monday night, then fired another shot into his head.

The guard was undergoing interrogation. Government sources said they did not know his motive nor could they identify him.

Quinn had entered the coalition government as a member of Premier Prince Souvanna Phouma's neutralist party. But in the past 10 months he had drawn closer and closer to the pro-Communist Pathet Lao and had become highly controversial.

The foreign minister and his wife were attacked as they returned from a royal reception at which King Savang Vatthana appealed for peace among the turbulent nation's contending factions.

Quinn's wife, wounded in both legs, was in a coma from loss of blood.

U.S. officials in Washington took the view that the assassination could intensify seriously the feud in Prince Souvanna Phouma's government, a shaky coalition of rightwingers, neutralists and pro-Communists whose factions never have been able to agree on any action of importance.

Russia Fires Rocket for a Moon Landing

By GEORGE SYVERTSEN

MOSCOW (AP)—The Soviet Union announced they fired an unmanned, 3,130-pound research vehicle toward the moon today from the orbit of an earth satellite. A Soviet astronomer hinted it may land a robot observatory on the moon's surface.

This is part of the Soviet preliminary work in a race with the United States to be the first to land men on the moon.

Tass, the Soviet news agency, said the automatic instrument station will reach the area of the moon in 3 1/2 days, apparently meaning some time Saturday.

At last reports at 4 p.m. Tass said, the device was outward bound 31,370 miles above the Yellow Sea and rocketing along close to its preset trajectory. Its instruments were said to be functioning normally.

Tass called the device Moon IV, though its predecessors in Soviet moon shot work have been known as Luniks.

Lunik I missed the moon? Lunik II was reported to have scored a hit. From Lunik III came the release of pictures purported to show the hidden back side of the planet.

The United States had landed one rocket on the moon's back side, but instrument failure limited the value of the exploit.

Without saying whether Moon IV was intended to hit or fly by the moon, Tass said the launching was in accordance with the Soviet program for "exploration of outer space and planets of the solar system."

The phraseology of its communiqué suggested the vehicle was shot from an orbiting space platform, but the communiqué did not go into detail.

It said, "The final stage of the rocket was preliminarily set on an intermediate orbit of an artificial earth satellite, then was launched and emerged onto the preset trajectory of the flight."

The implication seemed to be that it was a piggy-back launching from an orbiting multistage rocket.

Nikolai Barabashov, head of the Kharkov Observatory, hinted that Moon IV or its successors may pack a robot observatory to a landing on the moon. Writing for Tass, he said Soviet scientists also want another series of photographs of the moon's topography.

Barabashov said additional pictures are needed to determine the heights of the moon's mountains and the depth of its craters.

Without specifically mentioning Moon IV, he wrote: "It would be possible to get much valuable information and data during the launching of automatic interplanetary stations which would land on the surface of the moon and, with the help of various apparatus, transmit to the earth information about physical conditions on the moon: Temperature, density and about the composition of its extremely rarified atmosphere, about the microrelief of the surface, magnetic fields, and the nature and character of light rays."

$1 Bills to Be Hidden in School Trash

Mrs. Bill Routon, "Litterbug" Chairman of the current Clean Up Campaign in Hope, has announced that the local Garden Clubs and the Student Council at Hope High will co-operate with each other in a special project Wednesday, Thursday and Friday, whereby $1 bills will be hidden in trash and "litter" around the HHS school building.

The idea is for the students to pick up the trash, put it in available cans, and in so doing, perhaps, find a $1. On Saturday morning from 10 to 11:30 five people will be deliberately littering the streets of Hope.

If you spot one of them and ask "Are you one of the litterbugs?" you will receive a cash prize. Again, this is intended to make us more conscious of our carelessness.

Asks Dismissal of Stephens' Suit

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — U.S. Atty. Robert D. Smith filed a motion in federal district court here Monday asking for the dismissal of a suit filed by W. R. (Will) Stephens, chairman of the board of Arkansas Louisiana Gas Co. Stephens' suit, filed Jan. 30, seeks to recover $300,000 in federal gift taxes and interest.

Smith said Stephens filed Nov. 9 last year with the Internal Revenue Service for a refund, but did not allow the IRS six months to act on the claim. Smith said the law requires that the IRS have six months to act on a claim before court action.

British Labor Leader Talks With JFK

By ENDRE MARTON

WASHINGTON (AP) — Harold Wilson, Britain's Labor party leader, calls on President Kennedy today to tell him what the United States can expect from the United Kingdom if his party wins the next general elections.

Whatever the Briton will say cannot surprise the President. Since his arrival Saturday Wilson has had a series of conferences with Kennedy's top aides and has addressed the National Press Club.

However, controversial some of Wilson's other views sound—such as his suggestion to recognize the East German Communist regime, or to accept as a fact the present German-Polish boundary—he may find a sympathetic listener in Kennedy when he explains his position on conventional versus nuclear weapons.

Wilson strongly believes that (1) Britain should beef up its conventional forces under the North Atlantic Treaty Organization, and (2) that the Conservative government's ambition to have an independent nuclear force is unnecessary.

The two questions are closely linked, Wilson maintains, as Britain could afford to strengthen its conventional forces only if it gave up its nuclear dreams.

The Labor party would favor, Wilson has said, putting more emphasis on conventional military strength—particularly within NATO—and de-emphasizing the idea of an independent nuclear deterrent force.

These views go along with Washington's. The U.S. policy is that there is no need for separate atomic forces because the U.S. force is big enough to deter an attack. The United States also feels that Great Britain could make a bigger contribution to NATO's conventional arms strength.

Joe H. Raschke, 59, of Spring Hill, Succumbs

Joe H. Raschke, aged 59, died Monday in a local hospital. He was a Methodist and had lived most of his life in the Spring Hill community.

Surviving are his wife, Mrs. Annie Byron Raschke; two sons, Paul Thomas of Texarkana and J. D. Raschke of Dallas; three daughters, Mrs. L. D. Martin and Mrs. Gene Burras of Dallas; Mrs. Thomas Cobb of Houston; his mother, Mrs. Paul W. Raschke of Hope, a brother, George of Texarkana and a sister, Mrs. Muriel Celand at Atlanta, Ga.

Services will be at 2:30 p.m. Wednesday at Spring Hill Methodist Church by the Rev. James Shaddox and the Rev. John Walker. Burial by Oakcrest Funeral Home will be in Foster Cemetery, near Spring Hill.

U.S., Britain Seize Exile Boats, Raiders

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — U.S. customs agents confiscated a Cuban exile boat, British police captured a band of 17 sea raiders and a companion group of commandos continued toward Cuba in a series of lightning-like developments.

The exile boat, captured in Miami, was "outfitted for aggression," supervising customs agent Joseph Fortier announced Monday night.

He said the 40-foot yacht Alisan was seized Sunday night at North Miami Beach with two homemade bombs and a 20-millimeter cannon on board.

The boat's owner, Dr. Santiago Alvarez, said he did not know who had been using the boat or where it was used. No charges were filed. Fortier said the boat was empty when agents boarded it.

A group of commandos was reported near Cuba by boat on a mission to fight any Communist boats encountered and to contact rebels inside Cuba.

A companion boat with 17 men aboard was halted at Norman's Cay, a tiny island in the Exuma chain 200 miles north of the Cuban coast and 350 miles south of Miami.

British police took the men into custody, including an American adventurer, Jerry Buchanan, 24, of Miami. Buchanan was flown to Nassau where he said the British would release the men and return their equipment.

Buchanan told his brother, James Buchanan, a reporter for the Pompano Beach Sun Sentinel, by telephone, that he and his companions would be put aboard their 35-foot boat, Violin III, today in Nassau and escorted out of Bahamian waters.

The State Department said they were captured after the United States relayed a report to British authorities.

An exile announcement in Miami said the men were members of the anti-Communist Cuban Es-cambray Front army and that a second boat was reported 40 miles from the Cuban coast.

Dr. Orlando Bosch, coordinator general of the group, said he would file a legal protest that the Violin III had been seized in international waters.

He said the two boats left five days before the State Department issued restrictions against raiders on Saturday.

Money Also Taken at 1st Baptist

City Police reported two more thefts at a local church Sunday, this at the First Baptist. Officers said Dr. George Balentine reported $10 taken from one ladies' purse and $2 from another.

Four members of a visiting choir lost a total of $22.30 at First Presbyterian Church Sunday.

In other action City Police are investigating a break-in at a Negro night spot operated by Gloria Rulford. The juke box was entered and an undetermined amount of money was taken.

Officers also reported that vehicles driven by J. W. Moody and Mrs. Virgie Robertson collided at 6th and Main with only minor damage resulting. Officers Clark and Long investigated.

Bill Hairr, senior in the University of Arkansas School of Agriculture, was one member of a team to attend a livestock clinic in Little Rock from Thursday through Saturday of last week. Students and instructors took part in the clinic.

KXAR is accepting articles of clothing, furniture etc. for the family of Mrs. Robert Shipp, whose home at Emmet was destroyed by fire last Sunday.

A front page picture in the Gazette today showed University music students preparing to play instruments which were damaged by fire when the school's band building was destroyed a week ago. In the picture is Freddie Smith, Hope, a music major.

Work on Post Office Resumes

PARAGOULD, Ark. (AP) — Homer Buchanan, job superintendent for Garbi and Joseph Construction Co. of North Little Rock, said here Monday that construction on Paragould's $572,000 post office building would resume this week.

G. H. Jones and Co. stopped work Jan. 17. The company reportedly went broke.

Buchanan said 20 to 30 workmen will move into an excavation, which is now filled with water, to complete the job. Pumps are being used to remove debris and water from the excavation.

Pressure High to Stop Exiles

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Kennedy administration was under pressure today to deny re-entry to the United States of refugees who participate in hit-and-run raids on Cuba.

Sen. Wayne Morse, D-Ore., said he was awaiting an answer from Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy to a March 20 letter in which he proposed enforcement of Neutral-ity Act provisions against Americans and non-citizens taking part in expeditions to other countries.

Morse, who heads a Foreign Relations subcommittee on Latin America, denounced the raids Monday as ineffective and dangerous.

Sen. John Sherman Cooper, R-Ky., said in an interview he agrees that the United States cannot permit the exiles to dictate the course of U.S. policy. But he said that policy isn't firm enough.

"The best thing we could do to reduce provocations in the area is to make it clear that the Soviets must withdraw all of their troops from the area," he said.

Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., a member of the Senate Armed Services Committee, said the administration first encouraged the refugees "but now it appears we are backing off."

"This is the type of thing that stems from giving Khrushchev a no-invasion pledge," he said. "When you promise not to invade a country, you've got to keep that pledge and that, apparently is what the President is doing."

The administration has said that President Kennedy's pledge not to invade Cuba was contingent on on-site inspection in Cuba to determine if all Soviet offensive missiles had been withdrawn. Cuba has refused to permit the inspections.

Sen. John Sparkman, D-Ala., a Foreign Relations committee member, said restrictions were necessary because the exile groups responsible for the raids were "playing with nuclear fire."

Theo Bonds, 64, Dies at His Home Tuesday

Theo Bonds, aged 64, grocerman, died unexpectedly at his home early Tuesday. He was a member of the Methodist Church, a World War II veteran and the American Legion.

Survivors include his wife, Mrs. Eula Carpenter Bonds, his mother, Mrs. Walton Bonds of Blevins; two brothers, Sanford and Bob Bonds, both of Blevins; a sister, Mrs. Ruby Beauchamp of Texarkana.

Service will be at 2:30 p.m. Wednesday at Oakcrest Funeral Home Chapel by the Rev. Rufus Sorrells and the Rev. Clyde Goddard. Burial will be in Rose Hill Cemetery.

Harding Seeks $2 Million

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Some 150 Little Rock doctors, businessmen and lawyers were asked Monday by Dr. George S. Benson, president of Harding College, to help the college's $2 million construction program.

Benson said the school hoped for a $150,000 contribution from Little Rock.

The funds would be used to construct a new science building, library, housing facilities and an "American Heritage Center," which would be the headquarters for Benson's famous anti-Communist seminars — The Freedom Forums.

Benson said there is not enough housing on the campus or in Searcy for persons who attend the Forums.

He said the school also expected to get $80,000 from its faculty, $20,000 from students, $100,000 from Searcy, and $150,000 from other parts of the state. The rest would come from outside the state he said.

Kennedy Wants $4.5 Billion for New Foreign Aid

By LEWIS GULICK

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy asked Congress today for $4.5 billion in new foreign aid money, slashing $420 million from the total he proposed before Gen. Lucius D. Clay's aid advisory committee reported the current program is much too big.

Last year Congress cut the President's $4.9-billion foreign aid request to $3.9 billion, and opponents want to pare even deeper this year.

In a special message to Capitol Hill, Kennedy outlined a six-point program aimed at improving the big overseas assistance program. He drew heavily on findings of the Clay committee with which he agrees.

"Our world is near the climax of an historic convulsion," Kennedy said. He declared that U.S. aid will help determine whether large segments of the world choose "consent or coercion" as a way of life.

"Despite noisy opposition from the very first days," Kennedy added, U.S. military and economic help has advanced freedom and the U.S. national interest around the world. Past Democratic and Republican presidents, a bipartisan majority in Congress and among the people and the Clay committee all agree on this, he said.

The presidential message launched the annual legislative battle over the politically unpopular aid bill.

A preliminary skirmish has already been set off by the recent report of the Clay committee, a group of 10 prominent citizens appointed by Kennedy to take a look at the aid program.

The Clay report said a "properly conceived and implemented" effort is essential to U.S. security, "but now it appears we are backing off."

"This is the type of thing that stems from giving Khrushchev a no-invasion pledge," he said. "When you promise not to invade a country, you've got to keep that pledge and that, apparently is what the President is doing."

The administration has said that President Kennedy's pledge not to invade Cuba was contingent on on-site inspection in Cuba to determine if all Soviet offensive missiles had been withdrawn. Cuba has refused to permit the inspections.

A DEAD ENDING

Her mouth was swollen and cut. Her left eye was developing a beautiful shiner.

THE STORY: Matthew Higby, wealthy war hero, consults Cornelius Ryan, a young lawyer, in view of a slander action against Gen. Lee Hooper who called him "a known murderer."

II

"What were the circumstances of this hearing where Hooper called you a 'known murderer'?" He shook his head slowly and the strong face suddenly took on the expression of a guilty schoolboy. "I want to buy some Thoroughbred horses and race them," he said.

"You like to gamble on the horses?" "I never placed a $2 bet in my life," he said. "I have a reason for wanting to indulge myself. Maybe I'll let you in on it later. To be an owner and race your horses on the big tracks you have to be licensed. You apply for a license and they investigate you. There's a thing called the Thoroughbred Racing Protective Bureau. It's headed by an old FBI man and a bunch of crack investigators. They check you out. You got any connection with the racks or the people in 'em, they report it to the State Racing Commission and you don't get your license."

"So they dug into your past and turned thumbs down?"

"The TRPB gave me a clean bill of health. Maybe they didn't go back 30 years. My record for the last 30 years, Corny, is clean as a whistle. I was even a kind of war hero. I never had any convictions in the old days, either. I'm clean, Corny."

"So?"

"Each State where there's racing there is a state racing commission," Higby said. "They don't run racing, but they're the legal authority. General Hooper is chairman of the State Racing Commission here. Appointed by the Governor. He makes a good front. Old soldier-war hero. So, as a matter of routine, the Thoroughbred Racing Protective Bureau gives me a clean bill of health to the Commission. That's when Hooper rises up on his hind legs and says maybe the TRPB don't know their business—letting a 'known murderer' slip through their fingers. So—action is delayed. What's eating him? I don't know. But he's damaged me, Corny, if I don't get that license."

"Your heart's set on owning horses and racing them?"

"Dead set."

"There are other ways to throw away your money."

"I've got to make Hooper eat his words publicly, Corny, or I won't get that license."

"I sat there turning my old fashioned glass around in my fingers. 'Sometimes, Matt, when you go into something like this you find you've opened up a can of peas. You may be able to make Hooper retract that 'known murderer' charge, but in the process a lot of other things might come to the surface you wouldn't like.'"

"There's nothing I'm ashamed of; nothing I have to be afraid of. You ever do anything wrong when you were a kid?"

I laughed, because it was so close to the surface after all these years. "I stole a $10 gold piece out of my father's stud box. It got blamed on some painters who were working on the house." "So you committed a crime," he said cheerfully. "Would they blackball you from some club you wanted to join if the story came out?"

"I doubt it."

"You know they wouldn't. Kid stuff. Ancient history. You about 30 years old, Corny?"

"Thirty-one."

"You don't know this city the way I do. Take O'Mara's place in the West Fifties. One of the swankiest restaurants in town. Thirty-five years ago it was a speakeasy. Tim O'Mara was a lawbreaker. But after repeal he went legit—got his restaurant license and his liquor license. Nobody thinks of Old Tim as having once been a lawbreaker. Prohibition was an unpopular law."

"Maybe you'll get your license anyway without having to sue him."

"Fix that or me," he said, "and I'll forget Hooper."

I reached in my pocket for a cigarette. He was quick with a gold lighter. I realized, however, that he hadn't done any smoking himself.

"Maybe that's our best first approach," I said. "See if you're going to get the license. Jake's connections can find out or you." I took a deep drag on my cigarette. "Tell me something, Matt. Do you really want to race horses or are you just being stubborn because somebody's gotten in your way?"

"I really want to race horses," he said. He hesitated a moment. "You got an hour to spare?"

"I could have."

He pushed back his chair and stood up, abruptly.

"Come with me. It's only three or four blocks."

"What is?"

"My reason," he said, his blue eyes very bright.

It was 6 o'clock when he walked out of the Athletic Club onto Central Park South. Daylight Saving Time.

He walked briskly, as though he was impatient to get wherever we were going. I noted that the minute we stepped outside the Club he'd picked off that dime-store bow tie and stuffed it in his pocket.

"Sutton Place way," he said "Five minute walk."

Our destination proved to be a brand-new apartment house on Sutton Place South. We walked into the cool lobby. The doorman had tipped his cap to Higby, who said "Evening, Richard."

The elevator man took us to the twelfth floor without any instructions from Higby. He walked down the hall corridor to apartment D. Higby reached in his pocket and then turned sharply to look at me. He'd certainly been fishing for a key and changed his mind. He looked a little sheepish as he rang the doorbell—a long and several exuberant shorts. He must have realized I'd caught him out.

It was quite a while before I heard someone fumbling with the lock inside.

The door opened and a woman confronted us, leaning a little unsteadily against the door jamb. I heard Higby's voice in a kind of whispered horror.

"Frances?"

I didn't see his face because I couldn't take my eyes off her. She must have been a knockout in her twenties. She was fortyish now. Under normal conditions she was probably still a handsome woman. The conditions weren't normal.

Her mouth was swollen and cut. A little trickle of blood ran out of one corner of it. Her left eye was on the way to developing a beautiful shiner. Her dark hair was in disarray, as though she or someone else had been tugging at it. Her summer print dress had been ripped down the front and torn off one round, sun-tanned shoulder. She had taken a beating from someone.

Higby reached her, gripping her shoulders in his strong brown hands.

"Frances!" She swayed slightly, and began to laugh. I realized she was tight as a tick—stoned to the gills.

For a moment Higby's head went down and his forehead rested against her bare shoulder. There was something oddly tender about that awkward movement. Then his head snapped up and suddenly he was a cold powerhouse.

"What happened?" he demanded.

"I had callers," the woman said, struggling with the hysterical impulse to laughter.

"Who?" "Complete strangers—never saw them before in my life." Her words were slurred.

"Them—how many?"

"Two."

"What did they want? What happened, Frances?"

Garment Plants Look at Sheridan

SHERIDAN Ark. (AP) — J. S. Goodman manager of the Sheridan Chamber of Commerce says three separate garment factories have contacted the chamber within the past 60 days about possible plant locations.

Goodman said a labor recruiting campaign already had been started to sign up potential workers. He said each plant wanted at least 300 women recruits and probably would hire up to 80.

Goodman said one company made pants and another headwear. He described the third only as a garment factory.

The city would be asked to furnish land for the plants Goodman said but each company would put its own building and no public financing would be asked.

Arkansan Accused in Illinois Case

CHICAGO (AP)—A Hot Springs man is one of five individuals or their executors named in an Illinois circuit court suit for using funds of a non-profit organization for their own gain.

Dr. Arthur H. Hauber of Hot Springs was named with four other trustees or certificate holders in a suit filed by the Illinois Attorney General. The five are accused of using $710,000 in funds belonging to the non-profit Belmont Hospital Association.

The state contends that the defendants violated a trust when the Belmont Hospital Association members sold membership certificates to the Stewards Foundation, a second non-profit organization. Named in the suit with Hauber were Robert R. Stibgen of Palestine, Ill.; Dr. Stanley F. Price of Chicago; executors of the estate of Grace M. Scharf of Chicago; and Dr. Urban V. Combs of McHenry, Ill.

Willy Mae Ramsey and Mrs. Joy Case.

Mr. and Mrs. Travis Lively were weekend guests of Mr. and Mrs. Othel Lively, before moving to their new home in Midland, Tex. where Travis has been made manager of Community Finance Co.

Miss Ruth Atkins, Hot Springs, was the weekend guest of her father, S. Atkins and other relatives.

Births

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Hardage of Little Rock are the parents of their first child, born March 28. A boy, he has been named Larry Lynn. Mrs. A. L. Hardage, Hope, is the paternal grandmother.

Nielsen to Defend Ratings

WASHINGTON (AP)— Executives of the A. C. Nielsen Co. go before investigating congressmen today to defend the way the rating service makes up its reports on radio listening.

Nielsen's handling of a 1961 survey in Louisville, Ky., came in for sharp criticism Monday as a special investigations Subcommittee of the House Commerce Committee pressed its inquiry into broadcast ratings.

Chairman Oren Harris, D-Ark., said he hopes to wind up questioning of the Nielsen witnesses today. Their testimony has taken up six sessions.

Subcommittee counsel Robert E. L. Richardson charged Monday that Nielsen's methods led to discrimination against a Louisville station which does not subscribe to the service.

Henry Rahmel, Nielsen's executive vice president, said the firm has made numerous studies of its survey method and "we do not find discrimination."

"We can't check all your samples," Richardson said. "We just checked this one and quite clearly there is discrimination."

JFK Wants

$420 million below the $4,945,000,000 he called for in his fiscal 1964 budget submitted in January before he got the Clay report.

Officials figured actual spending for fiscal 1964 would probably drop less than $100 million during the year as a result of the proposed savings because spending lags behind appropriations.

In the new money request 1,405,000,000 would go for arms aid—a $75-million reduction from the January figure—and $3,120,000,000 for economic assistance, a $345-million cutback.

Most of the economic aid savings, officials said, stem from postponements of the time when developing countries are expected to be ready to qualify for loans and from reducing from $400 million to $300 million the amount of the presidential contingency fund used for emergencies. They said $300 million seemed ample for any foreseeable emergencies.

Sound part of the theme in the Clay report, Kennedy said the main new initiative in the 1964 program would be to encourage private investment in underdeveloped countries.

To this end he proposed:—Amending the U.S. tax law so American firms can deduct part of their investments in these lands from U.S. income taxes. Officials said the proposed tax credit will probably exceed 10 per cent of the amount invested.

—Expanding U.S. government guarantees to American investors overseas against losses from expropriation and other political causes. Officials said the guarantee program against such risks would be raised from $1.3 billion to $2.5 billion under Kennedy's proposal. This does not require new appropriations.

The President also requested abolition of the ban Congress included in last year's trade law against giving most-favored-nation tariff concessions to Communist Poland and Yugoslavia.

Kennedy said the "distinguished" Clay committee, the new foreign aid chief, David Bell, and the administration are in "fundamental agreement" regarding six key recommendations:

1. "To apply stricter standards of selectivity and self-help in aiding developing countries."

2. "To achieve a reduction and ultimate elimination of U.S. assistance by enabling nations to stand on their own as rapidly as possible."

3. "To secure the increased participation of other industrialized nations in sharing the cost of international development assistance."

4. "To lighten any adverse impact of the aid program on our own balance of payments and economy."

5. "To continue to assist in the defense of countries under threat of external and internal communist attack."

6. "To increase the role of private investment and other non-federal resources in assisting developing nations."

No Try Again at Bath Houses

HOT SPRINGS, Ark. (AP)— Courtland Reid, assistant superintendent of the Hot Springs National Park, said here Monday that no attempts had been made to integrate bath house facilities since last Thursday.

M. T. Blanton of Chicago, a vice president of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, and Henry Harden of Detroit, an NAACP member, were admitted last Thursday to the Buckstaff Bath House.

The facilities here are supervised by the federal government.

DOROTHY DIX

DID SHE MARRY THE WRONG MAN?

By HELEN WORDEN ERSKINE

Dear Helen: Being in the country, I have no one to talk with except my little children, so, when evening comes, I like to talk to my husband. But to him, talking like this is a waste of time when we could go to bed and get a good night's sleep.

He's the strong, silent type. I'm the volatile, emotional sort. So after a little while of listening to me in bored silence, he gets up and walks out, leaving me mad, frustrated and feeling sorry for myself.

Since there are no buses and I am just now learning to drive, I depend upon my husband to take me to market. This is my only recreation and it's always, "Hurry, hurry. We can't waste the day here."

My husband's family also lives far away, so I'm entirely alone. That's why I need somebody to talk to. My husband, in my eyes, is always right because that is the way I was brought up. He's a good man; dependable, does not drink or smoke and loves me and the children in his quiet undemonstrative way, but as things are I feel at the end of my rope. Have I reason on my side. Did I marry the wrong man? If so, what should I do?—Emotional

Dear Emotional: Opposites often attract one another for the very reason that they differ in temperament and character. Such is evidently the case with you and your husband.

He, as well as you, must learn that marriage is compromise; give and take; help and be helped. You have your rights, he has his. Tell him so with a smile, not a frown, then prove your willingness to meet him halfway by holding up on the subjects which interest him. Search the newspapers for items which would appeal to him. Arrange with the town librarian to mail you books that might be useful to him.

He is probably tired after the day's work. Maybe he feels the necessity of thinking out certain problems by himself. Satisfy your longing for talk by exchanging ideas and experiences by letter with your family and friends in Europe. As time goes on you will develop friendships nearer your present home. Once you learn to drive, it won't be such a problem. Send a stamped, self-addressed envelope for my leaflet, "Making Conversation."

Dear Helen: Last summer I met a wonderful boy. We dated for a month, then my sister got involved in a situation which brought shame and sorrow to our home. We all loved her and were crushed for she was the victim of a heartless boy. I felt so disgusted and infuriated that I wanted nothing to do with any boy ever again; so told my boy friend to get lost. He was very hurt but took me in my word. Now I feel differently and would like to say I'm sorry. But how?

—Troubled

Dear Troubled: Write him briefly, saying you regret your impulsive edict and wish to apologize. Explain that a family crisis was responsible for your emotional reaction. Invite him to the house. If he is a real person and sincerely valued your friendship, he will reply. If he doesn't, good riddance!

Have you a problem? Perhaps Helen Worden Erskine can help you. Write her in care of this newspaper, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

CHATTER

By "BILL"

Psychologically Speaking:

Are you lower than low, uncomfortable, unhappy, unloved... everything? Well, if so, don't flit up to the attic and hang yourself... it is caused by your happiness cycle. You didn't know you had one? Well, neither did we until we read about it recently.

It seems our moods go in cycles ranging from top drawer to cellar stairs. The only thing to do is not to worry about it; make no important decisions while at the low ebb because anytime you will pull out and be on top of the world where nothing can touch you. These cycles are supposed to last about six weeks, so why not make a test? Just make a note of the day everything goes wrong like when the plumbing springs a leak, the kids drive you crazy, you are chairman of the committee and the Speaker doesn't show... your best friend says "Where did you get that hat?"

Then watch closely and you will find in a few days things begin to change. The Butcher gives you some extra parsley, your husband's Boss's wife asked for your cake recipe, junior wants to know what the man next door meant when he said you were whistle bait. It is a nice world after all.

In the meantime, while you are coming and going out of this slump, we would suggest that you be prepared for the best and the worst by giving some serious thought to your spring wardrobe. No woman can be too depressed when she is well dressed. Let's start with an Easter bonnet. White goes with everything, the roll-brim rough straw is so smart... the tallcrown white with black or navy band and veil will give you height... we love the bright red sailor.

Psychologically speaking... we would say, "keep thyself well dressed and anything can happen!" From top to toe we can help you with this and hope to be seeing you at Raley's Style Shoppe... Hope's House of Fashion.

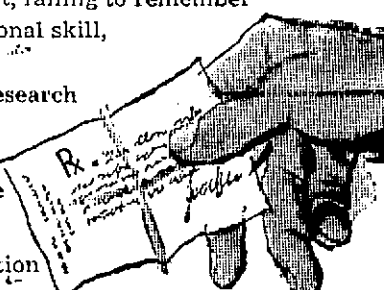

A PRICELESS RECIPE

In a health emergency, the little slip of paper on which your physician writes his prescription is priceless. You wouldn't part with it under any circumstances.

However, once the emergency has passed, human nature being what it is, you are apt to forget how valuable the prescription really was. Maybe you even grumble a little at its out-of-pocket cost, failing to remember the doctor's professional skill, the countless hours of pharmaceutical research and many other factors that made the "recipe" possible in a health crisis.

Permit our prescription department to fill your next "recipe for health."

Travs to Play Parent Club

DADE CITY, Fla. (AP) — Two probable starters for the Arkansas Travelers were sent down from the Philadelphia Phillies, the Travelers' parent club, Monday.

Ritchie Allen is expected to start in center field and Jim Boozer seems to be in line for a starting pitcher's job. He is a righthander.

Boozer, who won 19 games at Chattanooga in 1961, went only 8-6 at Buffalo last year with an earned run average of 3.98.

Allen, 20, a Negro from Pennsylvania, batted .329 in 132 games at Williamsport in the Eastern League last year.

Both players have been managed before by Traveler boss Frank Lucchesi.

Arkansas split a doubleheader Monday with Chattanooga. The Lookouts took the first game 7-3 and Arkansas won the second 12-3.

Walks Help Pork Wallop Kansas

LAWRENCE, Kan. (AP) — Arkansas got 16 walks and nine hits, and walloped Kansas 15-7 in baseball.

Five Jayhawk hurlers couldn't check the Razorbacks, who also benefitted from seven Kansas errors.

Del Cotton went nine innings for Arkansas, fanning five and walking six. The Razorbacks now are 5-1. Kansas is 2-2. The teams play again Tuesday.

Giant Gridders Look More Like a Cage Team

By CHARLES MOREY

Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—Watching the New York Giants on a hardwood floor nailing a round ball at an elusive hoop is a puzzle.

The Giants give a clear-cut portrayal of a basketball team playing football and a fuzzer image of a football squad playing basketball.

To nobody's surprise the football personalities of the Giants come through their basketball disguises like Groucho Marx's mustache.

Rosey Grier is still 300 pounds of immovable man, whether he has the ball or somebody else is grasping it. Dick Lynch is a hawk-eyed defender. Jim Katcavage is burly and quick but something less than finesseful when he has the ball in his large paws. Tom Scott is a mixer. Joe Walton darts about like an end trying to shake himself loose. Charlie Janerette is a well-coordinated big man. The star of the team is the unobtrusive defensive halfback, Dick Peterson, who flicks the ball through the hoop almost with an apologetic air of a defensive man who shouldn't be scoring.

The Giants played the Philadelphia Eagles' basketball team the other evening at Seton Hall University in New Jersey and lost by an estimated score of 69-54. It was a trifle difficult to be certain about the count. In the last minute of play each team had nine men on the floor and there were three basketballs flying around the premises. A charitable scorer posted the final count as 69-69.

The darling of the crowd was Grier, a native of New Jersey. Rosey is 6-feet-3 and weighs 300 evenly distributed pounds. He is 100 pounds from the waist up, 100 from the waist down and 10 around the waist.

Grier entertained at halftime with some songs, accompanying himself on the guitar. He sang his own composition entitled "Why". It was difficult to grasp the answer due to the blurred acoustics. Rosey actually has a strong and pleasing voice and a professional approach. He also has a sense of humor.

The Eagles have a well-drilled basketball team—for a football team. They have played 40 games since the football season ended, which should qualify them for honorary membership in the NBA.

Tim Brown is the star, a clever dribbler and a deadly shooter from the corner. Frank Budd, one of the world's fastest humans, is a fine player and a brilliant rebounder. Dick Lucas has a casual but effective hook shot.

At the end of 40 minutes of hard-running basketball all hands were puffing but there were no broken bones. That's the difference between basketball and football.

Jonesboro Youth Signs With Porks

JONESBORO, Ark. (AP)—Jerry Lynn Moore, 6-3, 215-pounder at Dollarway High School, has signed a grant-in-aid to play at Arkansas State College, coach King Block announced Monday. Moore played end, tackle and center.

Friend Hurls a Shutout for Pirates

By MIKE RATHET

Associated Press Sports Writer

Bob Friend has the range from 60 feet, but the 250-foot experiment has failed Vern Law, and today the pitching partners who brought Pittsburgh a world championship in 1960 were worlds apart.

Friend pitched a four-hitter over the nine-inning route Monday as the Pirates defeated Minnesota 3-0 in an exhibition at Orlando, clinching the opening day pitching assignment only hours after Law learned he was heaving the team for awhile.

Law's failure to overcome his shoulder ailment — and the announcement that he would be sent to the club's minor league camp to try and regain the form that made him a 20-game winner in 1960 — came on a day filled with events of more than passing interest.

Roger Maris, the New York Yankees' 61-homer hitter of 1961, pulled a hamstring muscle in his left leg while making a diving catch during a 3-2 victory over Detroit at Lakeland, and likely will miss the world champions' season opener a week from today.

Duke Snider, veteran Dodger outfielder, was sold by Los Angeles to the New York Mets. The official confirmation of the much-discussed transaction was made by the Mets, who did not play Monday. The Dodgers were beaten 6-1 by Baltimore at Vero Beach.

Elsewhere, the Chicago Cubs belted Boston 13-3 at San Bernardino, San Francisco edged Cleveland 4-3 at Santa Barbara and the Los Angeles Angels whipped Houston 5-1 in California games. In other Florida action, Washington defeated Milwaukee 4-2 in 10 innings at West Palm Beach, Philadelphia edged St. Louis 5-4 at St. Petersburg and Cincinnati downed Kansas City 4-1 at Bradenton.

Law, a 33-year-old right-hander who posted a 20-9 record in 1960, then followed with 3-4 and 10-7 marks, had been pitching at distances up to 250 feet in an effort to strengthen his arm muscles. The plan failed. Law has pitched in only one exhibition, giving up four runs in three innings.

Law will be sent to Daytona Beach, and may stay until the last minor league club leaves about April 20.

Friend, meanwhile, was mid-season sharp, allowing the Twins only four singles. The Pirates also got only four hits—but Don Clendenon's two-run homer in the sixth wrapped it up.

Maris homered for the Yankees in the top of the fourth, then in the bottom of the inning made a spectacular catch of a Dick Mc-

Auliffe liner and wound up on the injury list. Joe Pepitone continued to sizzle for the Yanks, hitting his third homer in two games and eighth of the spring.

Robin Roberts went nine for the Orioles, holding the Dodgers to six hits while Brooks Robinson paced an 11-hit attack with a two-run homer and single.

Lou Brock collected a single, two doubles and a triple while Ron Santo and Ernie Banks hit consecutive homers as the Cubs walloped the Red Sox. Tom Haller's two-run homer proved decisive for the Giants as Juan Marichal pitched two-hit ball in his six-inning sting against the Indians.

Don Lee and Julio Navarro combined for a four-hitter as the Angels beat the Colts. Jim King's two-run 10th inning triple gave the Senators their victory over the Braves, the Phillies used a triple by Tony Taylor and a wild pitch in the eighth to beat the Cards and DonLasingame and Gordie Coleman each stroked three hits in the Reds triumph over the A's Inc., of Texarkana.

Arkansans High in Pentathlon

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — Two Arkansans are among the top 2 individual scorers today after Monday's events in the eighth annual international pentathlon here.

Ray Timm of Little Rock was 14th with 3,115 points and John Starr of Fayetteville was 16th with 3,020 points. The top four American finishers will represent the United States in the Pan American Games.

Today's event is cross country running.
